T • Documentary on IDF Actions in Gaza

Several videos (posted by ^{Israel Defense Force} IDF soldiers) of IDF soldiers^{~8} yapping it up, looking at camera, putting sunglasses on, even as a massive concerted set of explosions go off behind them, blowing up several blocks of multi-floor buildings. Cold indifference to the suffering this causes. Military commander being interviewed about this has no remorse, says, "Can't separate civilians from Hamas because they support Hamas." "Victory of justice over evil." "Infidel building." "No Muslim land in the land of Israel." "The land of Gaza is our (Jewish) land."

- Death by heat has increased 117% since 1999.
 - CO₂ trapped gasses intensify weather patterns
 - Summers getting longer, Spring & Fall shorter
- Heightened Rus. military activity around undersea cables. Many nations rely on these cables for much of their energy. 900k miles of such cables on earth = 4x distance to moon.

Institute (temples)

- Hitherto, many of the names to be done in temples came from prison indexing work. Now, AI is creating most all names, of family tree for people to do temple work for ancestors. Still, AI is being "trained" by indexing work being done by prison workers.

Jam Session with Jesse Massarella

Down in the chapel I was able to do a one-hour session with musician, Jesse (inmate from my section) who made a goal then performed a concert in the Maverick center (Ut, SLCC). He played guitar and sang songs he composed, while I did a piano accompaniment to his style and sometimes harmonized with him. We both very much enjoyed the session. Quality-wise, some of it could have been performed for an America's Got Talent show (not entertainment peazz-wise, in our prison garb).

What I don't understand is how he's able to do what he does. He has to use a keyboard device on the phone to communicate. He said he can't hear tones. Beethoven? He said he goes by ^(bone conduction) vibrations. Yet he seemed to be totally comprehending what I was doing on the piano.
