The above title expresses an obvious sentiment that has been expressed quite well. However, I've not seen anyone articulate just what a profound role Musk's Tesla's played in the EV world.

Before Tesla, EVs were barely a thing. By introducing a sexy sports car that could go 0 to 60 in 2-3 seconds, EVs came into mainstream awareness. They became cool—and profitable.

Then Elon introduced practical versions that non-wealthy people could afford. And he revolutionized auto-drive features to the auto industry.

All the other EV companies/products were tag-alongs, benefitting from Tesla breaking the ice for others to follow.

So, to now demonize Tesla because Musk is downsizing government and helping Trump save the country from collapse, is a level of hypocrisy that is so blatant as to add to the criminality of the violence and treason they are rolling out.
