Memorial Service for Jeffrey Daniels

(See enclosed announcement) We had a service here in section 1 for an inmate who died suddenly (~3 days) from cancer a couple of weeks ago. The sentiments expressed were generally respectful while also being introspective. People admitted to being skeptical that he was faking it, and that they didn't treat him very well generally and how they now realize they need to have more compassion for people. A meal followed, from items donated. It was close to a funeral type service. I see this as a function of the SOLID culture.

Sterling Daily (12/22/24): StoryTV's "Jesus, His Life" Series - An Excellent Profile From Many Angles

Christmas Service [-] The two inmate songs would have been much better if I was in them. (tried; devised by Brandon Hillman) Why do inmates not rejoice in my abilities (heaven sent) rather than snuff me? [^{Crabs} Crabs in a bucket.]

(9.5) StoryTV All day "Jesus, His Life" each hour from perspective of one of who knew him well: Mary, Clophas, Pilate, Judas, Peter, Magdalene, Joseph. The documentary toggled^{seamlessly} between scholarly commentary and theatrical dramatization that spared no expense nor talent. It also courageously extrapolated into plausible back-story scenarios. I was impressed.
